COURSE STATUS

The Course is at the Implementation phase – It is currently in the testing period prior to deployment.

It is already on the University Virtual Learning Management System (Blackboard).

The course is under Creative Commons License.

It is piloted by the School of Continuous Education.
CHALLENGES

To convert all the work of the sustainability task force into an Online Open Course - Accessible to All

To understand and learn the concept of Open Education Resources and CC licenses

To convert the project-based experience into course material turned out to be challenging, content, design and time wise

Where to go from here? Piloting, Deployment, Users’ feedback, and future enhancement and update of the existing material

SUPPPPORT

External Mentor and Local Mentor recommendations and guidance

Local Mentor Guidance and training

Help of OIT Team delegated by the Local Mentor, support of the Program Coordinator and External Mentor

Local Mentor Guidance
WHERE TO GO FROM HERE?

Open Education for a Better World (OE4BW) inspired and encouraged us to reach a wider audience and design future projects in the form of Online Open Courses.

The Course is currently at the testing phase, it will soon be on another platform such as OER Commons.

The course is a Building block to the creation of a full Online Open Access Program under the School of Continuous Education.

Future cooperation and collaboration with other institutions Worldwide in designing, implementing and deploying online courses accessible to All.
