U.S. History to 1877

HIST 130

Dr. Sarah Mergel, Dalton State College

Discipline/Interests: American Political, Intellectual, and Diplomatic History

Dr. Sarah Mergel

History should be about more than just facts; it should be about evaluating and understanding the decisions and events that have shaped our world. I help students to gain a greater curiosity about the past as well as develop the ability to think critically outside of the classroom. Furthermore, I want to challenge preconceived notions about history by showing students how knowledge about

U.S. History Survey 1

Surveys the history of colonial America and the United States from the first European encounters with the New World through the Civil War and Reconstruction.

Student Learning Outcomes:

1. Students will articulate an understanding of major forces and events, influences, or ideas that have shaped history and society.

2. Students will demonstrate the ability to articulate and analyze perspectives and values of diverse cultural groups and their historical experiences in

Student feedback or participation

In a survey of students in my summer courses, most respondents had not used a digital textbook before. However, the consensus was they liked having access to a free book and they found the format convenient. Some of the comments included:

- I like the textbook and the fact that it is free is awesome!
- Provides loads of useful information.
- Having a low cost alternative is huge for someone like me who does not have $100 or more for a textbook.
- It is a great textbook and I was happy to know it was free!

Cost savings

So far, the book is saving my DSC students at least $22 if they were to buy a new printed version in the campus bookstore. In the past three
